Johannes SCHWARZ, Baritone

Johannes Schwarz is a native of the Münsterland region (Germany). After completing his school music exam in Frankfurt (majoring in horn), he studied singing at the HMTM Hanover with Peter Ling.

He is currently engaged at the Erfurt Theatre. In April/May 2025, he will sing Jochanaan in SALOME and Giorgio Germont in LA TRAVIATA at the Gewandhaus Zwickau as well as the title role in a staged production of ELIAS under the direction of Roland Böer. In August 2025, he will be heard as Schaunard in a production of LA BOHÈME at the Domstufen-Fest in Erfurt and in summer 2026 in the role of Kothner in MEISTERSINGERN as part of a production by the Wagner Association Minden.

The Staatstheater Meiningen offered him a temporary contract, during which he attracted attention as Figaro in FIGAROS HOCHZEIT and as Wolfram von Eschenbach in Wagner's TANNHÄUSER (at Wartburg Castle), among others.

While still a student, Johannes Schwarz made his debut in the production of LIEBESTOD at the Bayreuth Young Artists Festival, at the Pfalztheater Kaiserslautern as Biterolf in a new production of Wagner's TANNHÄUSER, at the Landesbühnen Sachsen, Pforzheim in von Einem's DER PROZESS, in Britten's A MIDSUMMERNIGHT'S DREAM as Bottom and at the Schlossfestspiele Wernigerode in the title role of Puccini's GIANNI SCHICCHI.

He has appeared as a soloist in oratorios and recitals at venues including the Alte Oper Frankfurt, the Rheingoldhalle Mainz, the Philharmonie Berlin, the Laeishalle Hamburg, the Semperoper Dresden and the NDR broadcasting hall in Hanover. The baritone already has an enormous repertoire of compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Johannes Schwarz has won prizes at the Haydn Competition in Rohrau, the Concorso di Musica Sacra in Rome and the Schumann Competition in Zwickau, among others.
